Write an introduction to an informative and factual blog post titled "How Does a Ladder Alarm Work?". ## Ladder accidents happen with alarming frequency: approximately once every hour, someone falls off a ladder and suffers some kind of injury that requires medical attention. Consequently, the ladder falls and the person coming down after him fails to break his fall. The ladder can be rendered unusable as a result of such accidents. Often times, the victim suffered severe injuries; some of them are even fatal. To make matters worse, ladders are generally not very durable. Although you buy it with the intention of using it for quite some time, you may find yourself having to purchase another one after only a few years due to physical damage (e.g., wobbly steps; damaged or stepped rungs; fatigued metal; rusting or chipping paint). The ladder you buy should be of the highest quality, and that is something that requires careful thought and consideration. Before selecting a ladder, consider these important factors:
